BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE GEOLOGY OF LEICESTERSHIRE

(TO 1970)

Introduction

Research in any field of geology today requires a search of the literature for prior records of data relevant to the investigation in hand, and for such a search a bibliography is an essential research tool. This new bibliography sets out to ease the literature search on any geological theme relating to Leicestershire.

Any bibliography of this nature has boundary problems. Even the county boundary is not a sure guide to relevance. It was defined on historical grounds, and crosses many geological boundaries. For example, the Pre-Cambrian and Cambrian inlier at Nuneaton is almost entirely outside Leicestershire, but its geology is so closely tied to that of Leicestershire that works on Nuneaton are included. Similarly, works on adjoining parts of neighbouring counties are included where they have direct relevance to Leicestershire.

The content of Geology provides another boundary problem. Many works on water-supply have a geological basis but others do not; decision on which items to include and which to exclude has necessarily been arbitrary at times. Similarly, with coal-mining, the bibliography has been restricted as far as possible to works specifically including geological data, so that works dealing only with mining technology are excluded. A further problem arose concerning the general works: numerous books refer, briefly, to the ancient rocks of Charnwood and then pass on to other matters; only those which go further and really say something about the Pre-Cambrian rocks have been included.

Much geological information is concealed in unpublished higher degree theses. Few have been traced before 1960 but some recent ones are included.

An attempt has been made to check the volume and page number of every entry but inevitably something will have been missed. A surprising number of inaccuracies have been found in older lists of references, and where possible these discrepancies have been resolved.

The foundations of this bibliography are built on several earlier ones, notably Fox-Strangways (1967), Horwood (1907), Watts (1947), Sizer (1962), Clayton (1964), Ford and Mason (1967) and Sylvester-Bradley and Ford (1968). These, together with the index compiled by successive Keepers of Geology at the Leicester Museum and the mineralogical index maintained by one of the authors (R.J.K.), constitute the major sources of reference for this work.

The compilers cannot hope to have covered everything and they hope that any errors and omissions will be brought to their notice for inclusion in a supplement.

The assistance of Michael Jones, Keeper of Geology in Leicester Museum, in providing access to the Museum's card index is gratefully acknowledged. Thanks are due to Mrs. Betty Ford for her help in compiling the author and subject indexes, and to Dr. F.M. Taylor for his careful checking of many entries.

The publication of this bibliography has been made possible by a generous grant to the East Midlands Geological Society received from the Department of Civil Engineering, University of Loughborough.

THE MERCIAN GEOLOGIST

Journal of the East Midlands Geological Society

The journal first appeared in December, 1964. The following numbers have since been published:-

Vol.1 No.1 December 1964	Vol.2 No.4 August 1968
Vol.1 No.2 June 1965	Vol.3 No.1 January 1969
Vol.1 No.3 January 1966	Vol.3 No.2 August 1969
Vol.1 No.4 September 1966	Vol.3 No.3 March 1970
Vol.2 No.1 January 1967	Vol.3 No.4 September 1970
Vol.2 No.2 June 1967	Vol.4 No.1 October 1971
Vol.2 No.3 December 1967	Vol.4 No.2 February 1972
	Vol.4 No.3 February 1973

The journal deals especially with the geology of the Midlands of England, but other articles have been accepted which are of current interest to geology generally. Manuscripts should follow the format of papers included in this number of the Journal and be sent to The Editor, "Mercian Geologist", Dept. of Geology, The University, Nottingham, NG7 2RD. Please contact the Editor during MSS preparation if in any difficulties.

In Vol.1, there are 25 original articles, 5 general papers, 2 Presidential addresses, 10 excursion reports and a number of book reviews. It comprises 383 pages, 24 plates, numerous text figures, an index, title page and cumulative contents list.

Vol.2, has a similar content, except that the second number of this volume was devoted to a bibliography of the geology of the Peak District of Derbyshire compiled by Dr. T.D. Ford and Dr. M.H. Mason. It contains 450 pages and 25 plates.

Vol.3, was completed in September 1970. It contains 26 original articles as well as excursion reports and reviews. There are 434 pages in the volume and 33 plates. Readers will note the change of size with the commencement of volume 4, to A4.

All parts of the journal, are available. It may be obtained by membership of the Society and by subscription as indicated below:-

Ordinary Membership	£2.00 (commencing 1972)
Institutional Membership	£3.00 (" 1971)
Joint Membership (Husband & Wife)	£2.25 (" 1972)

Single copies are supplied at £1.75 (£1.00 Ordinary Members; £1.50 Institutional Members). (Vols. 1, 2 & 3 are priced at £7.00 (£6.00 Institutional Members; £5.00 Ordinary Members) each complete with index, title page and cumulative contents pages.

Librarians in overseas institutions may care to take advantage of exchange agreements, whereby the "Mercian Geologist" is exchanged for other original geological journals. This exchange scheme is organised through the Department of Geology, University of Nottingham, England, and not through the Society. Write direct to Dr. F.M. Taylor.

All enquiries for current subscription rates and details of back numbers, should be addressed to:

Mrs. D.M. Morrow,
Secretary, E.M.G.S.,
